Washington – September 14, 2020

–Covid-19 has proven to have long term impacts on a person’s health beyond just acute illness for a few weeks, damaging mental acuity, imbalancing the immune system, exacerbating cardiovascular dysfunctions, to name a few. To combat the coronavirus's spread, Sunny Bay, a trusted maker of effective pain relief products, started to offer enhanced disposable face masks. These disposable masks offer better protection than other available options and are affordable enough to wear a new mask every day without laundering.

Static electricity within the meltblown fiber of Sunny Bay's face masks helps to trap the viruses and harmful germs, in addition to features preventing the air leak. The static electricity is a key feature the cloth face coverings lacks. N95 masks have thicker meltblown fabric layers therefore offers more filtering capability, in addition to the tight seal on the sides preventing the air leak. Breathability also enhances the comfort level for the user. In
