Scarlet Red Pearl

Calypso Red

Fluid Metal

Lakeside Blue

Machine Gray

There are pretty good colour options offered by the company and all seems to be attractive. Coming to the variants, Elantra 2021 will mainly come in 4 trims, i.e. SE, SEL, N-line, Sports. Among which, SE is the basic model and would not be equipped with advanced features. There may be some changes in the specifications too as the variant changes but there is no exact information about many things as the vehicle will show up next year.

While talking about already present beasts in the market Honda Civic, Honda city 4th generation and Skoda Octavia are the main rivals in the respective price segment and coming out of the sedan category there is one option from the same family i.e. Hyundai Creta that gives a strong competition to Elantra. Talking specifically, the major competition in every aspect would be between Skoda Octavia and Hyundai Elantra N-line. Elantra has maintained its class from its first model, lets see how this new generation Elantra performs in the Indian automobile market.
