job search strategies to help those who are being challenged by today's job market." says author, Christy Noel. "I am honored to be joined by my fellow "Your Personal Career Coach" authors who will share their own expertise so our attendees can realize better and faster results in their job hunt."

Noel has enlisted a panel of three other career experts to discuss ways to land a job during this trying time. The panelists are:

Christy Noel: Career Expert and the author of "Your Career Survival Guide: How to Get and Keep a Job in Times of Crisis" and co-author of Your Personal Career Coach: Real-World Experiences for Early Career Success" ; Cary Stockdell: CEO of Stockdell-Stringer, a leadership solutions and executive search firm;

Dana Leavy-Detrick: director and founder of Brooklyn Resume Studio and Canna Career Partners;

Michele Lando: professional resume writer and founder of Write Styles.

Career Advice for a new economy from Author Christy Noel

Yes, you can find a job in a pandemic. But you'd better learn how to stand out and how to come across well in the virtual world. We hope to help job seekers do just that.”

Christy Noel

“When Christy asked me to participate in this webinar, of course I said yes.” says Stockdell. “I've seen too many people making their job search harder on themselves because of mistakes that can be easily overcome.”

Job Search Strategies During COVID will deliver actionable advice and practical tips to create more momentum while job hunting in today's environment. The contributing authors of Your Personal Career Coach will share strategies on how to stand out, get noticed, and land a job during COVID-19.

You'll learn:

- 5 common mistakes job seekers are making that are keeping them from getting noticed
- 3 secrets hiring managers are looking for on your resume
- How to optimize your LinkedIn profile so hiring managers reach out to you with jobs

- Mastering the video job interview to get hired
- Answers to your most pressing questions in a live Q&A

Dana Leavy-Detrick adds, "I look forward to sharing tips and advice to help today's job seeker get noticed in a crowded and competitive job market. I know with the experience of the panel, we will be able to help a lot of professionals."

With the expertise of the four panelists, the webinar will cover key components of searching for a job in a virtual world with their focus on exposing the common mistakes applicants make that prevent them from being hired and little known tips to maximize their success. Each panelist will share their experiences to jump start a job search by getting ahead of the competition with simple, but overlooked strategies, such as boosting a LinkedIn profile that will grow a network of contacts.

Stockdell will tackle the most common mistakes applicants make throughout their job search, from relying only on job postings online, to not preparing well enough for job interviews, to not knowing their market value.

Leavy-Detrick, a master at LinkedIn, will focus on how to use a LinkedIn profile to maximize your visibility and network using important profile sections and keywords.

Lando will share the top three things employers look for when scanning a resume.

Noel, who recently released Your Career Survival Guide: How to Get and Keep a Job in Times of Crisis, will round out the panel with her insight on preparing for the virtual interview.

All attendees will receive a copy of Noel's ebook, Your Complete Guide to Cover Letters! and will have a chance to ask the panelists questions directly in a live Q&A session.

Noel shares more advice and tools for getting started and getting ahead in your career on her website and blog, www.christynoel.com. Her book, "Your Personal Career Coach: Real-Life Stories for Early Career Success", written with her father, Mike Noel, and 25 contributing authors, is set for a September 30th release date and is the first in a series of "Your Personal Career Coach" books. Noel's books deliver real-world advice in short and engaging stories to help the reader land a job and propel their career. She has been featured in OC Register, Huff Post, Ladders, CBS-8 San Diego, UpJourney, The Leadershift Project, Stilettos on the Ground, and more.
