Muvi Payout's state-of-the-art scheduler supports both single and recurring events, and the stream can be embedded to any third-party websites and apps.

NEW YORK, US, September 28, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Muvi, a pioneer in the digital streaming industry in an interesting development, uncaps the number of linear channels publishable using Muvi Payout, the end-to-end solution for launching linear OTT channels and broadcasting 24x7 across the web, mobile, and connected devices. For the uninitiated, Muvi Payout was released earlier this year and stepped into the competitive cloud-based linear broadcasting landscape with promising features such as hosting Live & VOD content on the same channel and versatile automation from ingest to delivery.

Since its inception, Muvi Payout set the record straight about its intent to deliver OTT content more efficiently, reducing the traditional Payout's capital expenses. Hosting the technology stack on a public cloud infrastructure like AWS, Muvi Payout transitions on-premise, traditional Payout to a rather flexible, scalable, and reliable cloud setup. Reasonably priced at $899 per month, Muvi Payout enables broadcasters to build pop-up channels as and when they like with a minimized lead time and cut out the on-premise infrastructure investment altogether.

"Cloud payout is the way forward, quotes an optimistic," Saurabh Dey, Head of Marketing, Muvi. "Broadcasters are facing major challenges in catering to the growing demand for personalized OTT content and the audience's ever-evolving viewing preferences. Muvi Payout helps broadcasters offer both live & VOD content on one platform with complete freedom to launch as many linear channels as they want with no extra cost whatsoever. A completely agile cloud-based payout where users can automate everything right from ingestion to delivery with multiple monetization support", adds Dey.

Muvi Payout, like Muvi's other trademark OTT solutions, is instantly deployable and available for "an all feature access" 14-Day Free Trial.
