A NOT-FOR-PROFIT COMMUNITY OF CARING

Jewish Family Home Care is now hiring home health aides to better provide support for the rising home care needs of their community.

We are looking for people who can be more than just employees. We are looking for individuals who will treat our patients like family.”

Teresa Duvall, Jewish Family Home Care President and CEO

“Over the last few months, we have seen a gradual, but steady, increase in the number of families seeking help for their loved ones,” Jewish Family Home Care President and CEO Teresa Duvall explained. “We have a reputation for providing safe, effective in-home care to families who cannot care for their loved ones around the clock. More people are turning to us, so we need to employ a bigger workforce, as this trend doesn’t seem to be decreasing.”

Even in this time of uncertainty, people are living longer, and a larger number of families need support with daily activities, such as overnight help, respite care, and more. Home health aides at JFHC work a variety of hours but typically care for the same patients and families to ensure quality and consistency for patients, making it a great choice for those who need set hours and want to develop trusting relationships with their patients.

The primary role of a home health aide at JFHC is to assist clients in performing daily personal care activities, which can include assisting the patient with personal hygiene routines, general wellness checks, cooking, cleaning, eating, dressing, shaving, giving medication, and transportation.

In addition to home health aides, JFHC also has other positions available for qualified candidates.

“We are looking for people who can be more than just employees. We are looking for individuals who will treat our patients like family and who genuinely care about providing quality non-medical assistance,” said Duvall. “We understand that the local economy is suffering and many people have lost their jobs, so we are happy to be able to offer this opportunity to dedicated and qualified candidates.”
