

Mountain Peaks Family Practice Welcomes Chelsea Marshall as New Physician's Assistant

OREM, UTAH, US, October 12, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Chelsea Marshall recently joined the Mountain Peaks Family Practice team as a Physician's Assistant. After multiple years of experience in family practice and then general surgery, she has the right experience to serve those who come into Mountain Peaks Family Practice. Her areas of specialty include abdominal pain, gallbladders, hernias, and all things related to bowel. She also really enjoys women's health, dermatology, and working with pediatric patients.

Dr. Robert G. Durrans

"Mountain Peaks Family Practice has decades of combined experience," said Dr. Robert G. Durrans. "Adding Chelsea to our team is a big win for our patients. We continue to be eager to help your family with all of your medical and care needs."

Chelsea completed her undergraduate studies at Brigham Young University with a major in Exercise Science. She then moved to Oregon with her husband where she attended PA school at Pacific University graduating in 2008. She spent the first 10 years of her career in Family Practice with Dr. William Preston at Cherry Tree Family Practice. She then spent three years in General Surgery with Utah Surgical Associates. She is very pleased to return to a family practice setting with Mountain Peaks Family Practice.

Chelsea has one daughter, twin boys, and a husband all with schedules that keep her running, but anything she can do with them is her favorite way to spend her time. She also loves running, hiking, camping, reading, and tackling a complex new recipe in the kitchen.
