NEW YORK October 13, 2020

BetterPT, a technology company committed to facilitating and improving patient access and experience with healthcare services, has partnered with the American Physical Therapy Association (APTA) to connect physical therapists and their patients through an interoperable, HIPAA compliant telehealth platform.

As part of the member benefits program, BetterPT offers significant discounts on telehealth services to APTA members. BetterTelehealth is an easy-to-use, HIPAA compliant virtual care platform. The technology enables physical therapy providers to maintain care continuity and expand digital access to patients, while improving patient satisfaction and outcomes.

“We’re thrilled to have BetterPT as part of our membership benefits program,” said Justin Moore, CEO of APTA.

“Telehealth has become a vital part of physical therapy practice during these unprecedented times. We’re excited to extend this promotional offer to our members.”

“Establishing a routine with patients is a key step towards better outcomes. This partnership will
