Having to tell our children to “beware of strangers”, and not trust anybody is disheartening, but necessary. In the current time of financial distress due to covid-19 and the pandemic, opportunists, family members, even relatives the advice of a powerful panel of Doctors, Law Enforcement, Advocates, Influencers and a Survivor, we have some answers. Please join us. You don't want to miss this broadcast.

We must be vigilant, Predators are everywhere. They can surface in the strangest of ways and they use kindness to get to what they want, and that is your children. These traffickers stakeout public parking lots, schools, churches, parks and even scan your Facebook or Twitter posts to find potential victims. This is a matter of life and death, literally. Most kidnapping victims are unable to escape and when they are no longer a good revenue source, they are disposed of and many meet the end of their life. Often, missing children are never seen or heard from again. Through deceptive practices many of these victims are whisked off to foreign countries and gone forever. The result is a life of slavery, violence and drugs. This road is a dead-end street. Let's stop this now.
