

New CBD & Health Supplement Supplier Launches In London

A world class range of CBD Oils offering natural relief that supports workout recovery; assists with sleep; manages anxiety and achieve overall well-being.

LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, October 14, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- NUSPORT CBD is now launching in London with a commitment to providing customers high-quality fitness CBD oils that they can trust. The company is producing a wide range of CBD products expertly designed to aid with all your health goals.

Reliably sourced from two of the finest Hemp biomass producers in Colorado, USA, NUSPORT CBD's two core ranges, Black Edition Broad-Spectrum CBD Oil and their lighter Pure Edition Rich Isolate CBD Oil, are manufactured to design and fit for powerful purposes. Using 100% natural ingredients; all organic, vegan, and gluten-free, each product is lab-tested to confirm the quality and purity, with a COA (certificate of analysis) provided with each batch.

We'll continue to expand our CBD Oils and our growing product range using the same goals and ethos. So far, I'm immensely proud of what we've created.”

Richard Blunt

Designed with the world's highest quality hemp extract, the company's products are also produced to provide fantastic value for money and offer an amazing taste with smooth CBD oils that do provide real benefits to customers. The company wants to ensure that customers feel that they can trust in the brand completely and know without a doubt that they are getting a high standard of product that will benefit them in their everyday lives.

About NUSPORT CBD

Having experienced an injury in 2013, founder of NUSPORT CBD Richard Blunt suffered chronic pain and became frustrated with the unavailing effects that painkillers were having in his journey to recovery. From there, he knew that something had to change.

After being recommended Cannabidiol \(CBD\) to ease the pain by a friend several years later, the noticeably quick benefits were convincing enough for Richard to decide to share his experience with others by launching his own CBD range.

NUSPORT CBD's innovative range of products have been created with the motive to support vigorous workouts, manage anxiety, and assist with sleep to help strengthen general health and overall well-being.

“With CBD, my mental health started improving and I felt motivated and driven again; I even started sleeping longer having averaged around four hours a night previously.”

As the head of NUSPORT CBD, Richard is aware of the issues customers often experience buying fitness products on the market with items that are overloaded with false promises and that are designed to be misleading. With NUSPORT CBD, your trust in what you receive is entirely supported by a year of thorough research and testing to create only the best products with proven results.

“This is all about trust. Trust that we have your best interest at heart, trust that we care and because we use our own product, and trust that we've seen truly positive results from it. We've created a great balanced product — affordable, amazing tasting, smooth CBD Oils with the world's highest quality hemp extract.”
