

Antonelli, Hogshead-Makar Headline NSMA Seminar on Thursday

Interactive Discussion, "Championing Women," Tackles Women's Sports and Sports Media Issues

WINSTON-SALEM, NORTH CAROLINA, UNITED STATES, October 14, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- On Thursday, October 15 at 4pm ET, the National Sports Media Association is hosting a live interactive seminar called Championing Women, as part of its Paying It Forward, Paying It Back series.

The panelists are:

- Debbie Antonelli, Basketball analyst for ESPN and CBS;
- Nancy Hogshead-Makar, Olympic gold medal-winning swimmer, attorney, and CEO of Champion Women.

Not only is it good to have open, frank discussions with two powerful women, but it also educates NSMA members and other guests, which helps to inform coverage.”

Dave Goren, NSMA Executive Director

They'll talk about women in sports, women in sports media, how the games are changing, and if there are more and better opportunities for women.

Plus, they'll examine whether schools are discriminating against women in collegiate sports, complying with Title IX (of the Education Amendments of 1972), and what women can do about it.

"We're looking forward to a robust discussion on these important issues for women in sports and sports media,"

NSMA executive director Dave Goren said. "Not only is it good to have open, frank discussions with two powerful women, but it also educates NSMA members and other guests, which helps to inform coverage."

The Paying It Forward, Paying It Back seminars are free to NSMA members, and free on a one-time basis to other interested media and students.
