

Control Medical and TZ Medical Announce Exclusive US Distribution Agreement

Portland, OR and Park City, UT - October 15, 2020

UNITED STATES, October 14, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Control Medical and TZ Medical today announced an exclusive distribution agreement for the United States for the Control Medical Mechanical Thrombectomy System. TZ Medical becomes the exclusive distributor of Control Medical's full lineup of thrombectomy aspiration devices and catheters starting October 15, 2020.

This agreement marks the potent combination of TZ Medical's sales and distribution horsepower and Control Medical's innovative thrombectomy system. TZ Medical listens to medical professionals on the front lines of patient care then delivers the products that help those medical professionals provide outstanding healthcare. Control Medical's innovative mechanical thrombectomy platform enables more power and control for thrombectomy suction with less complexity.

Both companies are committed to quality and integrity in design, manufacturing, and business operations. These shared values have led to a close collaboration for this distribution agreement as well as medical professional-driven development of future products in the Control Medical portfolio.

"The Control Medical Mechanical Thrombectomy System aligns perfectly with TZ Medical's product portfolio," said TZ Medical President John Lubisich, "The combination of more power and control without the hassle and expense of capital- and complexity-intense pumps fits well with our philosophy of making clinically-effective products approachable and practical for every health care team."

"I am excited about the combination of our innovative technology with TZ Medical's reach and relationships," stated Shawn Fojtik, CEO of Control Medical. "The way TZ Medical's team genuinely cares about every medical professional and every patient represents our product well and fits Control Medical's values."
