

Winnipeg Home Heating Company Warns About the Importance of Being Prepared for Winter 2020/21

Colder than normal winter temperature projections and potential of future business disruptions should be accounted for in preparing your home for the winter.

WINNIPEG, MANITOBA, CANADA, October 14, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ --

This year has been anything but certain in Canada with constantly changing political, economic and cultural landscape. While we have a much better grasp than we did back in March many provinces are re-instituting new closure procedures that may disrupt normal business operations. With the end of CERP payments for many Canadians in early October this is also a stressful financial time.

Luckily the stock of sanitizer and toilet paper has been largely been restored, but it does not mean that we should not be mindful about potential disruption. When it comes to this weather projections, Farmers' Almanac called it "The Winter of the Great Divide: Wet, white, and wild in the West, everything crazy in the East." It stressed that while Maritime Provinces will have an unusually mild winter, Manitoba along with western Ontario and Saskatchewan "will experience much colder than normal winter temperatures."
