

Covax Data and Sandler Partners Align to Provide Complete Data Security

TUCSON, AZ, USA, October 15, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Covax Data, a visionary cybersecurity SaaS provider, is pleased to announce a strategic partnership with Sandler Partners. Based in California, Sandler "delivers best-in-class telecom, cloud, IT, and connectivity solutions...through a network of more than 9,000 expert technology agent partners."

As cyber threats are now a constant in the business world, companies need experienced partners that understand best practices to reduce risk, by providing highly valued solutions to mitigate those risks. The combination of Covax Data's unique Polymer solution with the Sandler partner ecosystem creates a tremendous opportunity to mutually deliver a compelling data security solution to a vast customer universe.

"Our Covax Data team is excited to be a solution provider partner with Sandler, America's fastest-growing technology services master agent and distributor," stated John T Shave, Chief Business Officer of Covax Data. "Our revolutionary approach to data security and transparency is a fantastic complement to the suite of telecom, cloud, and IT services offered by Sandler Partners."

Ryan Yakos, Senior Vice President, Channel, Midwest, notes, "Covax Data is taking Cybersecurity to a deeper level with data control. No other product on the market is able to monitor, track, encrypt, and ultimately, if needed, remove proprietary data." He continues, "Covax Data is founded by an experienced leadership team, and they are filling a hole that other Cybersecurity companies have ignored."
