Marketable Resumes have announced five new resume templates for the job hunters.

CHARLOTTE, NC, UNITED STATES,
October 19, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ --

Applying for a new job can be challenging, and in the competitive job market, it's necessary to adopt different strategies to make an extraordinary impression on potential employers. Gone are the days of walk-in interviews where job seekers could make a first personal impression before handing out the resumes to the hiring committee. Every employer now demands a resume beforehand, mostly through an email or a postal service, to shortlist the candidates before allowing them to continue further in the employment process. The resume is the first chance to make a powerful impression on potential employers and to stand out in the CV selection process. The Resume must be creatively designed, comprehensive, and eye-catching enough to appropriately highlight the candidate's skills and talents.

The HR professionals review thousands of resumes every day and spot trivial mistakes in the format in the blink of an eye, which is the principal reason for rejections. An overall dull resume is another core reason for not getting through the resume shortlisting procedure. The most common mistake candidates make is that they underestimate the power of a well-designed and concise resume. Not everyone is skilled enough to build a creative CV template and produce a boring black and white plain resume that will not create the desired impact and probably end up in the pile of rejected resumes. Therefore the layout, designs and color combination of the resume is super important to get noticed.

Marketable Resumes is an online platform where job applicants can obtain creatively designed eye-catching resume templates and save them from the troubles of developing one. The company has recently released five new resume templates for its customers to choose the most suitable one according to their requirements and budget. We help candidates get rid of their boring traditional resumes and transform them into the best version of it. The team at Marketable resumes is well aware of the fact that a resume has only a few seconds to make an impact on the recruiters and employers. Our templates will make sure that the employers are compelled to have a more in-depth look into the resumes. The resume layouts are designed in a way to showcase the skills set most suitably. The infusion of bright colors and the perfect color combinations will ultimately grab the reader's attention.

There are dedicated sections for adding About Me, Contact, Skills, Experience, and Education in every template enabling the candidates to add all relevant information most productively. The customers can choose from three different resume designs and layouts, each having their distinct qualities and features at the most affordable prices.
