

Construction Staffing business continues growth with massive Northern Investment

Building upon continuing growth during the last 12 months, Daniel Owen Ltd has opened two new offices as well as expanded its northern Hub.

NEWCASTLE UPON TYNE, TYNE AND WEAR, UNITED KINGDOM, October 20, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Over the last 6 months, Daniel Owen Ltd (a staffing business for the built environment), has worked to continue the momentum originally planned for 2020, and as the business starts accelerating again, there are a number of expansions that are being revealed today across the built environment sector.

To support continuing growth, Daniel Owen have recently opened and expanded a network of Northern offices. These have all been regionally positioned to deliver the same Daniel Owen service with the localised approach needed to supply a great partnership for both candidates and clients.

Starting in Newcastle, the original hub has been quickly outgrown within just a year of opening, moving to larger and more prestigious offices in the city. Joining this Northern Hub, 2 fully staffed offices have been set up in Leeds and Glasgow to regionally provide site staff across their respective locales. Many experienced consultants have joined the business to lead these additional regions and have brought additional drive and energy to Daniel Owen Ltd.'s new 'Northern Powerhouse'.

David Gill, Managing Director of DO North, announced on the expansion:

“During the lockdown, a lot of focus was on making sure our candidates were regularly informed of the changing landscape and that our client partners still had the best site staff during this period. This translated into steady growth at a time when the sector was constantly in flux and reinforced our adaptable approach to client requirements.

These new offices are the result of hard work into growing within our sector when it needed experienced workers more than ever. I look forward to growing this legacy over the years to come and providing North England and Scotland with a recruitment service to fit our adapting sector.”

The announcement joins news of other expansions within Daniel Owen, with the Bristol office expanding into larger office space as well as the opening of a new Swindon Hub a month ago.

As a long-standing staffing agency that always hires the right worker not the fastest, the quality of Daniel Owen’s candidates has been key to the operation of many sites during the pandemic and is reflected in the continuing growth at this time.
