The Benefits of Using Natural Cleaning Products

Every business requires routine cleaning to ensure the space is spotless and free of germs. To achieve this, use cleaning products and it is best to go for natural products. One thing that has been debated over the years is the use of regular cleaning products versus eco-friendly cleaning products, and this is for a good reason. Here are a few reasons why you should opt for natural cleaning products for your business.

Good for our environment

Biodegradable cleaning products are great for the environment. The EPA recommends the use of eco-friendly cleaning products that are low in volatile organic products like limonene, hydrocarbons, and glycol and are biodegradable. Normal products may contain phthalates and sodium lauryl sulfate that are toxic to both plants and animals. Danolyte disinfectant contains hypochlorous acid \(HOCl\) that is biodegradable and safe for the environment.
