

Mango Animate Releases an Animation Maker for Event or Product Promo Videos

With Mango Animate Animation Maker, users can introduce new products to the market or highlight upcoming business events to let customers know.

HONGKONG, HONG KONG, CHINA, November 6, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mango Animate recently rolled out an animation maker to enable users to create promo videos for their brands. Promotional videos are effective in attracting and retaining customer attention. They give businesses a competitive edge as they help them build lasting relationships with their customers. They can utilize the exemplary tools offered by Mango Animate to convey brand messages that promote growth. Through promo videos, users can demonstrate their products to many customers and prospects online.

At Mango Animate, we know just how essential promo videos are to brands. They not only help to increase awareness but also help users build trust with their audiences.”

Ken Glenn, CMO of Mango Animate

Mango Animate’s animation maker is a game-changer in promo video creation. With features like scene transitions and lively camera effects, the videos will indeed generate interest from many customers. Users can design promotional videos to highlight upcoming business events, educate customers, or demonstrate and introduce new products to let viewers know and even make them more curious and anxious to explore.

“At Mango Animate, we know just how essential promo videos are to brands,” explained Ken Glenn, CMO of Mango Animate. “They not only help to increase awareness but also help users build trust with their audiences. Our animation maker offers many opportunities for our clients to utilize the most innovative tools to bring their messages to life through promo videos. Users can create stunning videos without spending a dime and experience a high return on their investment. They’ll also be able to measure their projects’ success through video metrics and make the much-needed adjustments to make them successful."

Product promo videos created using the animation maker from Mango Animate allow users to shed light on their products' unique features. These visual creations can compel viewers to want to check out the products and other offerings mentioned. When shared on websites, promo videos help to drive traffic and increase conversions. Since most people watch videos online every day, users can take advantage of audience behavior to design unique promo videos that will get them noticed.

The animation maker helps users create unique promo videos to keep the audience engaged. Promo videos are often short, making them excellent for persuading viewers to keep coming for more information. Mango Animate provides flexible video distribution in multiple outputs to allow users to share their promo videos on various platforms, including YouTube, Twitter and Facebook.
