

Candy Canes and Buchu Leaf? BuchuVida Offers Natural Deodorant/Skin Care Products as Unique Holiday Stocking Stuffers

TEMPERANCE, MICHIGAN, UNITED STATES, November 12, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Skin care and personal wellness products have long-been a holiday gift-giving staple, and this shopping season is projected to see strong demand for stocking stuffers that offer an opportunity for all-natural self-care, after a particularly stressful 2020.

BuchuVida, a start-up company based in Temperance, Michigan, is ready to satisfy holiday shoppers' gift lists with its very unique line of 100% natural deodorant, lip balm, facial toner and other skin care products featuring patented formulations including buchu – a plant with origins in the remote, dry mountainous regions of the Western Cape of South Africa, and widely prized over centuries by holistic and traditional medicine practitioners for a full spectrum of health and wellness applications. For centuries, buchu has long been used both topically and ingested – as an antiseptic, an anti-inflammatory agent, along with many other applications associated with digestion, detoxification and pain control.

For company founder, Jo Feltman, holiday gifting of BuchuVida products represents an opportunity to tell an interesting backstory about unique ingredients and demonstrate that the term “holistic skincare product” doesn’t mean sacrificing actual product performance.

“It’s easy to get stuck in a gift-giving rut for friends and loved ones. BuchuVida products give shoppers the opportunity to bring something truly new and wonderful to the holiday season, and then beyond into the daily skin care regimens of friends and family.” Feltman said.

The buchu plant has a long history and track record of broad holistic benefits, and BuchuVida’s
