

Old Mill District Announces Kathy Deggendorfer as 2020-2021 Winter Artist

Central Oregon artist creates vibrant watercolor painting inspired by the colors and textures of Bend's Old Mill District

BEND, OREGON, USA, November 16, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Old Mill District commissioned local artist Kathy Deggendorfer to create its annual winter artwork, which is featured on the cover of the Old Mill District's Winter Guide, as well as on ornaments, banners, kiosk posters, billboards and in printed pieces throughout Central Oregon. Deggendorfer describes her vibrant watercolor paintings as whimsical representations of her life, and is inspired by the colors and textures of her surroundings. Her 2020 holiday artwork offers a unique perspective of the District, and the iconic Pilot Butte, smokestacks and "No Caulks Allowed" sculpture are included for the first time.

We are so proud to partner with Kathy and share her unique perspective of our beautiful district with all of Central Oregon.”

enjoy the beauty of the river setting.”

Deggendorfer moved to Bend in 1973 when the Brooks Scanlon Mill was still a bustling industrial area and the economic center of the community. She now lives on a ranch just outside of Sisters, Oregon where she specializes in watercolor paintings, fabric design and hand painted tiles. Deggendorfer has a dynamic and successful career and her work is collected throughout the Pacific Northwest. In 2008, she was selected to create the Oregon State ornament for the White House Christmas tree, and her one man show "Painting Oregon's Harvest" (curated by the High Desert Museum) has been traveling throughout Oregon's regional museums for the past five years. To learn more about Deggendorfer and view more of her artwork, visit KathyDeggendorfer.com.

“Each year, a different local artist is commissioned to create exclusive holiday artwork for the Old Mill District,” says Carrie Ramoz, Marketing Director for the Old Mill District. “We are so proud to partner with Kathy and share her unique perspective of our beautiful district with all of Central Oregon.”

Limited edition ornaments featuring Deggendorfer’s painting are available for purchase at the Ticket Mill in the Old Mill District.
