Rendering for Astral at Auburn, a new retirement community opening in Auburn, Ind. next year.

Astral at Auburn is a vibrant new retirement community expected to open in March 2021. The community will offer independent living, assisted living and memory care for older adults.

With independent living, residents will be able to leave the hassles of home maintenance behind and focus on the passions they'd like to pursue in retirement.

Assisted living residents will receive the help they need – whether it's with dressing, bathing or medication management – to help them maintain their independence for as long as possible.

A team of highly-trained Alzheimer's and dementia care associates will provide around-the-clock monitoring and personalized plans to help each resident in the memory care community reach a higher quality of life.

Astral at Auburn boasts a signature dining experience and close proximity to shopping, restaurants and recreational destinations, along with a wide range of enriching wellness activities.

Last month, the community welcomed Director of Marketing Amy Hake.

Hake, of Fort Wayne, Ind., brings nearly a decade of progressive experience in the Indiana senior living industry to her role at Astral.

Astral at Auburn is a three-story, 184,000 square-foot building that will house 166 apartments with a variety of layout options.
