PUNE, MAHARASTRA, INDIA, November 23, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Smart Healthcare Market:

Executive Summary

Global Smart Healthcare Market is valued approximately at USD 144 billion in 2019 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than 16.2% over the forecast period 2020-2027. Smart Healthcare is referred as the integration of advanced technology in conventional healthcare services, which in turn alters it into smart healthcare. Smart healthcare products improve the quality of healthcare services and enhance the user's experience. Smart syringes, smart pills, electronic healthcare etc. are some of the most ordinary type of the smart health care products. These products offer reliable and precise data regarding the patients and often help the clinicians to take care of their patients better. Also, it helps in remote-monitoring of patient's health conditions and is also effective in minimizing the cost of the treatment for the user, which may drive the market growth across the globe. Moreover, the rise in prevalence of chronic disorder such as cancer, heart diseases, diabetes etc., growing adoption of mHealth solutions, and favorable government initiatives to digitalize healthcare industry are the few factors responsible for the impressive CAGR of the market during the forecast period. According to the World Health Organization (WHO), Cardiovascular diseases (CVDs) are the leading cause of mortality and morbidity around the world, taking an almost 17.9 million lives of people every year. While as per the American Heart Association, around 17.6 million deaths were registered due to CVD in the year 2016 and is likely to grow almost 23.6 million by the year 2030. This, in turn, is likely to strengthen the demand for smart healthcare products, thereby contributing to the market growth around the world. However, the high investment and maintenance cost of the product coupled with dearth of skilled and trained professionals are the few factors restraining the market growth over the forecast period of 2020-2027.
