BUSINESS TAX RETURN PREPARATION FOR THE 2020 TAX YEAR

Here is the background on this release. It is an open secret that 2020 has been a year like no other for businesses in San Francisco. The gear opened strong, with a booming economy, until the pandemic hit. Next, many businesses struggled with revenue, and then, both the federal and state governments created various complicated programs for tax mitigation and even outright grants. Now, as we end the year, businesses face very complicated situations. Revenue may have gone up, gone down, or stayed the same. They may or may not have been able to take advantage of government programs of grants, loans, or tax mitigations. Now, the task is to fill out very complicated returns which work hard to minimize taxation during these very turbulent times.
