PUNE, MAHARASTRA, INDIA, November 24, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Smart Clothing Market:

Executive Summary

Global Smart Clothing Market is valued approximately USD 1.6 billion in 2019 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than 26.2 % over the forecast period 2020-2027. Smart clothing is an advanced convergence of fashion and technology, an invention that has transformed imagination into reality. Smart clothing is the next generation of clothing with valueadded features, such as monitoring the biometrics of individuals, adapting to changes in the environment, and more. Unlike other intelligent wearables (smart watches), smart clothing does not require charging. Instead of focusing only on smart watches and smart bands, businesses are thus shifting their focus towards developing smart clothing. Growing Awareness About the Need for Sports & Fitness would increase the market growth. The market is driven by the demand for sensor tracking of bodily activities, the smart clothing adoption for various end-user industries. The key players of global Smart clothing market have adopted various strategies to gain competitive advantage including product launch, mergers and acquisition, partnerships and agreements, investment, funding and others. For instance, In 2020, Levi's and Google launched the latest Commuter Jacket 2.0 smart jacket, and Google was able to minimize the batterypowered tag that gives the jacket its intelligent powers to more than half the size of the original tag. However, high product cost would restrain the growth of market. Also, In 2017, Polar, a key player in the market for smart apparel, released a polar team pro jersey. The shirt is activated using the heart rate monitoring system and GPS tracking.
