PINEDALE, WYOMING, UNITED STATES, November 30, 2020 / EINPresswire.com/ -- Email remains the most common channel of business communication in 2020. And you might not be aware that you're losing a decent part of your profit due to spam email placement. With 15 years of experience, GlockApps helps email marketers overcome their obstacles and reach their goals by providing all the tools necessary for efficient spam testing, email authentication, and IP reputation monitoring, as well as offer actionable steps for improvement.

Every plan includes:

Deliverability testing and reporting;
Automatic transactional email testing;
Monitoring of IPs, authentication records, and web protocols;
In-depth DMARC analytics;
Support via email and live chat;
Instant notification via email, Telegram, or Slack.

The discounted plans will be available for purchase through the GlockApps website for only a couple of days, till Dec, 2nd.

'GlockApps provides the top-quality email deliverability improvement tools for companies of all sizes all over the world. If the only thing that stopped some of the marketers from trying our solutions was the price - this Cyber Monday is the perfect time to finally implement our tools into workflows'. - Says Alex Markov, the CEO of GlockApps.
