“In times like these, small businesses typically have a more difficult time raising revenue. However, it is in times like these, that veteran owned businesses prepare and step-up to the challenge, like we have in tough times in our military life, when you double down to get the task at hand done. It is how we were trained, and what we did for our country, and what makes us who we are today.

That said, as a NVBDC Certified SD/VOB, I truly appreciate the recognition for this award. I will
