

Crownhill Packaging Offers Environmentally Friendly Cold Chain Packaging Solutions to Canada

Crownhill Packaging is pleased to announce a new range of sustainable packaging solutions through their recent distribution partnership with Vericool®.

TORONTO, ONTARIO, CANADA, December 4, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Crownhill Packaging, one of Canada's largest independent packaging companies, has announced a new set of sustainable and eco-friendly packaging products to its product range. By establishment of a distribution relationship with US company Vericool®, the packaging provider is intent on bringing to market a proven sustainable solution to Canadian businesses working in a wide variety of industries ranging from medicine to food and beverage.

Vericool® is notable for being a packaging manufacturer with a social conscious. Founded by CEO Darrell Jobe, who was formerly incarcerated before going on to become a successful salesman and entrepreneur, the company is dedicated to giving both its staff and community members a second chance to reform their lives. The mission behind Vericool's sustainable initiative is to 'Protect people and our planet by eliminating the use of unsustainable packaging materials'. Crownhill Packaging hopes to echo this message by offering Canadian businesses the opportunity to sell their high-performing and cost-effective packaging across Canada.
