

St. Joseph Village of Chicago Named One of City's Best Memory Care Communities

Recognized as Chicago's first Catholic senior living community, St. Joseph Village is one of only six memory care facilities to be recognized.

LEMONT, IL, UNITED STATES, December 10, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- St. Joseph Village, a Franciscan Ministries community, has been named one of the best memory care communities in Chicago.

The senior living community, which is located at 4021 W. Belmont in Chicago, was one of only six communities recognized by MemoryCare.com, an online resource for caregivers and older adults living with memory impairment.

St. Joseph Village of Chicago, a Franciscan Ministries community with a rich heritage of serving Cook County seniors, has been named one of Chicago's best memory care communities.

According to the Alzheimer's Association, more than 5 million people age 65 and older are living with Alzheimer's disease or related dementia. Alzheimer's disease is now the sixth leading cause of death in the United States.

Memory care communities provide compassionate care to those with memory impairment and give family caregivers peace of mind by providing a safe environment for their loved ones.

To select the top memory care communities, Memorycare.com considered several factors, including location, access to experts, facility features and amenities.

"Being named one of the top memory care communities in Chicago is an honor for our team here at St. Joseph Village," said Executive Director Brian Celerio. "We know that many families struggle when a loved one is diagnosed with Alzheimer's or dementia and finding the right community can be challenging. Our community provides a safe, supportive environment for our residents to make new memories and enjoy experiences that add to their life's story."
