Drivers

Stringent regulatory framework

Globally, due to the demand for approved goods, sterilized pharmaceutical products and its wide-ranging applications in the manufacture of aseptic implants and medical devices, the market for cleanroom technology is experiencing tremendous growth. The clean-room technology industry, however, is driven by growing regulatory issues relating to the packaging, production and delivery of better-quality products and the health of people participating in these jobs.

Restraints

High operational costs associated with cleanrooms

A complex process is the use and management of a clean space. This is because, in both cleanroom grades, the amount of air supplied is different. In an ISO 6 cleanroom, the air is 100 times cleaner than in an ISO 8 cleanroom, thereby doubling the air conditioning power of the HVAC systems.
