EINPresswire.com/ -- A Detroit transplant via Santa Monica and Santa Fe, Lori Faye Bock has been residing in the tiny hamlet of Los Silvestres, just north of Abiquiú in northern New Mexico. There along the Chama River, she has found endless inspiration for three decades on the farm where she lives with her husband and has worked alongside a bevy of sheep, cats, dogs and a multitude of wildlife.

A nationally acclaimed artist, over the decades she has partnered with organizations such as PetSmart Charities, the ASPCA, American Humane Association and scores of humane societies, animal shelters and rescue groups by providing images and a variety of donations to promote educational campaigns for humane and kind treatment of all animals. “

Knowing animals and caring for them is one of life's joys. My reward comes when the happiness I feel in portraying my animals is communicated to those who see my creations now on Christmas cards.”
