PUNE, MAHARASTRA, INDIA, December 14, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Probiotic Drinks Market:

Executive Summary

Global Probiotic Drinks Market is valued approximately at USD 13.65 billion in 2019 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than 6.1% over the forecast period 2020-2027. Probiotic Drinks consist of bacteria and yeast which is good for digestive system. Probiotic drinks help to send food through gut by affecting nerves that control gut movement thus it helps in improving gut health and maintains strong immunity system. These drinks maintain natural balance of organisms in the intestines and treat as well as prevent gastrointestinal issues (GI), like diarrhea, and irritable bowel syndrome. The rising health consciousness among consumers and technological advancements in probiotic products are the few factors responsible for growth of the market over the forecast period. Furthermore, products launch and other strategic alliance by market players will accelerate the market growth. For instance: on 21st January 2019, Japanese firm, Yakult Honsha Co., Ltd., launched its fat-free Yakult probiotic drink in Denmark. Thus, expanding its product portfolio in European market. Also, on 23rd January 2017, Harmless Harvest launched a new product line of probiotic beverages in San Francisco. These new plant-based beverages contain organic coconut with no added thickeners, stabilizers, or artificial flavors, that supports digestive and immune system which attracts the health-conscious consumers for this organic probiotic drink. The product line is available in Original, Mangos & Acerolas, Blueberries & Acai, Strawberries. However, high R&D costs for developing new probiotic strains is the major factor restraining the growth of global Probiotic Drinks market during the forecast period.
