LoginRadius Announces Support for FIDO2 Authentication Standard

Global CIAM leader in favor of reducing consumer reliance on passwords and improve digital security

VANCOUVER, BRITISH COLUMBIA, CANADA, December 16, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- LoginRadius, the industry-leading consumer identity and access management (CIAM) platform, announces its support for the FIDO2 authentication standard. FIDO2 (Fast Identity Online) is a set of specifications put forth by the FIDO Alliance, an open industry association focused on developing and promoting low-friction authentication standards.

Developers can add additional security layers to their authentication flows. Given the ability to move beyond passwords, consumers can now easily verify themselves across multiple channels via single-factor, two-factor, or multi-factor authentication.

> Our support for FIDO2 will alleviate consumers' concern around safety and simplicity during web and mobile app authentication"
> Deepak Gupta, CTO of LoginRadius

With LoginRadius' configurable support for FIDO2, developers can:

Offer resistance to attack vectors like phishing, account takeover, and other common attacks.
Provide a unified hardware key for all services.
Provide progressive step-up authentication experiences to consumers.

"We are moving away from the age of password dependency and into a more pervasive, phish-proof means of authentication. Our support for FIDO2 will alleviate consumers' concern around safety and simplicity during web and mobile app authentication," says Deepak Gupta, CTO of LoginRadius.

"As we join this transformative movement in the authentication technology, we are happy that we have reinforced our commitment to offering stronger security and frictionless consumer experiences to our customers" he adds.
