MONTESSORI TEACHERS ADD VIRTUAL PRESCHOOL TO HIGH-QUALITY EARLY LEARNING IN THE

BAY AREA

Here is the background for this release. So-called "online," "remote," or "virtual" learning may be the new standard for many students across the Bay Area and, indeed across the United States. Parents of young children might find placing a preschooler in front of a computer extremely challenging. A dull online lesson can lose a preschooler's attention and could stunt learning development. The newly announced virtual kindergarten activities can help both parents and children to stay engaged in this online environment.

In the virtual program, preschool and kindergarten children can watch videos designed to show teachers speaking directly to the student in fun and engaging ways. Online lessons in counting, reading, and science are available at zero cost to families. Early learning lessons in a virtual preschool setting can set young children on the path to a bright future for online learning skills. For these reasons, Learn & Play Montessori is excited to announce yet new activities for its leading virtual preschool program using the esteemed Montessori Method.
