PRP FOR HAIR LOSS OFFERS BRIGHTER DAYS AHEAD FOR BAY AREA RESIDENTS

Here is the background on this release. Personal responses to hair loss can vary in the Bay Area. If signs of genetic baldness begin to appear, a man might shave their head and accept the new look with aplomb. In another situation, thinning hair could cause a person, especially but not only women, to suffer from depression. For these reasons, SVHI PRP Therapy is proud to announce an updated informational page about a non-surgical hair restoration procedure. PRP or Platelet Rich Plasma therapy can support hair growth for both men and women. Busy people may appreciate the convenient in-clinic process and short recovery time. In summary, Bay Area residents searching for options may find PRP for hair loss in San Carlos, CA, the solution for a brighter outlook in 2021.
