EINPresswire.com/ -- UPDATE: Microbe Formulas, a wellness company, began with two doctors sitting at a table discussing how to provide effective, natural solutions for detox and gut health. Reflecting on their third year in business, founders Dr. Jay Davidson and Dr. Todd Watts mark 2020 as a record year for company growth, community building, product development, and revenue.

While 2020 was not without its challenges, CEO Ryan Riley believes Microbe Formulas' success is due to its culture and central mission: Creating solutions that work is what we do. Restoring hope and health is who we are.

He explains, "Now, more than ever, people need ways to support their health and look forward with a positive mindset. I love that as a company we step forward and say, 'Here we are. How can we help?'. It's absolutely rad to be a part of a mission like that."
