Overview

Higher education or post-secondary education is the final stage of formal learning after the successful completion of K-12 education. Students attain higher education by attending full-time degree courses in various institutions including universities, colleges, academies, technology institutes, vocational schools, trade schools, and other institutions offering professional certifications. Certain non-degree courses are also witnessing hikes in enrollments due to the increasing interests of working professionals to pursue further education. Increasing demand for employability skills including like teamwork, critical thinking, analytical reasoning, ethical judgment, problem-solving, language skills, information literacy, and others has resulted in an overall increase in the volume and variety of course offerings in the higher education market over the last few years. With the rapid adoption of education technology, increasing focus on experiential or collaboration-based learning has led to many business schools and colleges offering courses, certifications, diplomas in innovative disciplines.
