

CEPTES announces another flagship product called DataBakup

DataBakup is a robust data backup & recovery solution for Salesforce that offers periodic/on-demand backup & restore options to mitigate the risk of data loss

SANTA BARBARA, CA, UNITED STATES,
December 21, 2020 /

EINPresswire.com/ -- CEPTES has officially launched another flagship product named DataBakup.

Included in their suite of highly efficient & powerful data management solutions, DataBakup is an enterprise data backup tool that will allow organizations to back up their data securely to safeguard sensitive data from any possible disaster by mitigating the risk of data loss. Designed to back up full or incremental data, the solution is highly scalable & comes with a seamless recovery option.

CEPTES's enterprise data archive solutions DataArchiva & DataConnectiva are widely popular & being used by multiple Fortune 500 companies across industries, and the recent addition of DataBakup will help them offer end-to-end data management solutions under one roof. Targeting multiple customer use cases, DataBakup comes with a plethora of features including scheduled backup, on-demand backup, support for full & incremental backups, multiple object backup, search, restore (full, incremental, single object, custom settings), and much more.

Comments on the News

"After successfully launching DataArchiva in 2018 which offers native-level data archiving services, we took the capabilities to the next-level by external archiving services with the introduction of DataConnectiva in 2019. Today DataArchiva & DataConnectiva are two of the most popular data archive tools in the market along with our advanced file management & collaboration solution XfilesPro. By continuing the trend of innovating new solutions every year, this time amid all those uncertainties & challenges, we kept our focus on our goal & successfully built DataBakup", said Harish Kumar Poolakade, Co-founder & Head of Products at CEPTES. Adding to his comment on the news, he said, "I am extremely delighted to see where we stand today in the market when it comes to offering top-notch solutions to address data management challenges, and with the introduction of DataBakup, I can proudly say that we are now a one-stop data management solution provider".
