We aim to revolutionize the existing belt & shoulder bag designs to better suit our current environment and sanitary standards post Covid-19. Unlike other belt and waist bags, it's pockets are purposely designed to be as easily accessible as possible. The sleek design and durable materials used to create the bags, vastly enhance the experience of carrying one's protective equipment due to its many built-in accessories including a multi-use key, a custom-made compartment to keep wet wipes moist and a sturdy exterior pouch for instant sanitization accessibility.

Furthermore, SafeQit bags come with uniquely engineered compartments to provide the proper organization and placement needed for all for your personal equipment as well, such as a portable wallet, a key chain and enough space to place your phone and any other desired item which could include gloves, masks, safety goggles, etc.

It can also be ideally utilized within the premise of your business to ensure that your staff stays within the guidelines of safety and health measures. Adequately equipped with all their essential sanitary and professional tools, the staff has instant access to any PPE (personal protective equipment) they might need. Moreover, it would showcase proper social responsibility and high hygienic standards, granting customers the feeling of safety and security. Each bag is tailored to benefit various professions including waiters, hotel concierge, travel concierge, delivery persons, school and university staff, field volunteers among many more.

“Many friends and acquaintances caught the covid because they were not well protected, although they were only going out when necessary,” said Roy Massaad, COO of NVRL8 “So we decided to create an elegant solution that would aid them in carrying all their PPEs around in style and with much less hassle.
