

Veteran Owned & Operated Out of Regz Asks, "If Green Berets Use It Shouldn't Every Man?"

Men's hair product company links arms with The Green Beret Foundation to support a mission that's as "cool" as America's Special Forces' hair looks.

MEMPHIS, TENNESSEE, USA, January 5, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- For a Veteran-owned men's hair care product company, how could it get better than a partnership that supports the Green Berets? So says Out of Regz. Focused on any mission that supports the Red, White, and Blue, the company recently announced a customized pomade that bears The Green Beret Foundation (GBF) name. Primarily designed to tackle the most practical necessities, the golden-lidded Operator Pomade recently supported the quiet professionals in multiple ways. First, it fell in line with their little-known insider Rule #1 - "Always look cool." How so? Its contents help wearers resist the grit of heat, sweat, and humidity while scoffing at hat/helmet hair under the most strenuous conditions. And, just like the Green Berets who were supported by it, the Operator Pomade pulls double-duty. This time, with an iconic old school barbershop scent, it provided GBF and the warriors they serve with 100% of its proceeds.

"Our partnership in December with the Green Beret Foundation was such a success we're going to rerelease the pomade soon. We plan to work with GBF as much as possible to help support them in any way we can. Green Berets execute the most complex missions and sustain the highest casualty rate of any of our special operations forces. Right now, it stands at 60%. Our company will continue to stand behind them and their families as they take the ultimate risks and make sacrifices for our safety. This is something we can do to serve them, and so, we proudly offer it," said Joe Van, CEO and Co-founder of Out of Regz, Inc.

Formulated to tackle what even elite Special Forces face on the daily, Out of Regz pomades give the military, law enforcement, firefighters, and tried and true hard workers a whole new level of hair care. The forward-focused company has a proven natural formulation that produces a pomade so strong it nourishes as much as it holds hair in place. Temporarily rebranded to suit the GBF fundraiser, the Operator Pomade is infused with bamboo and artichoke extracts to improve hair health naturally.

Grapeseed and castor oils encourage hair growth, reduce loss, and repair damage as well.
