

My Future Purpose Year End Review

Individuals seeking purpose and a sense of belonging

My Future Purpose becomes a membership organization providing 40 featured guests throughout 2021 along with monthly Zoom gatherings, workshops and more

WESTON, CONNECTICUT, US, December 30, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- As we bid farewell and good riddance to 2020 the pandemic changed us all in the way we interact with one another, get educated, how we work, communicate, and live. My Future Purpose LLC hosted weekly sessions featuring special vetted guests who shared the discovery of their purpose and invited others to join in the Wednesday afternoon weekly Pause for Purpose Zoom discussions.

My Future Purpose hosted guests that discovered their purpose by:

- Volunteering for a nonprofit that captured their heart
- Advocating for a cause that spoke to them
- Creating good from a tragedy or personal loss
- Working for a company whose purpose aligns with theirs
- Reinventing self after transitioning from other professions

Vicki Thomas Chief Purpose Officer and Co-founder of My Future Purpose

Vicki Thomas, Chief Purpose Officer and Co-founder of My Future Purpose said, "After 28 weeks as word-of-mouth spread about Wednesday afternoon Pause for Purpose sessions, a sense of belonging swelled with those who joined in. Wednesday's at 4:00 PM (ET) became a valuable place to learn, be inspired, share camaraderie, and for some, help to shape a renewed sense of purpose."

As a result of the weekly series success, My Future Purpose will become a membership organization in 2021 providing 40 featured special guests throughout the year along with monthly Zoom gatherings, workshops, articles delivered to your inbox, opportunities to try out new ideas to get knowledgeable feedback, retreats, 1-1 coaching and more. To learn about My Future Purpose and to become a member visit

Joyce Cohen, Chief People Officer and Co-founder of My Future Purpose said, "the pandemic created an uncertain environment as we became concerned for our own health and that of our family, friends, colleagues, neighbors. We isolated in place while creating a weekly, virtual safe haven to learn, expand, connect, be inspired."

Examples of six 2020 My Future Purpose featured guests:

One featured guest, Colby Farrell, a college freshman at University of Ottawa founded a non-profit, Reuniting Once Again, an intergenerational initiative that brings together youth and older adults to minimize isolation. He has engaged governments and sits on a committee at Temple University in Philadelphia, PA developing a first-ever intergenerational course. He shared with My Future Purpose participants how and why he is interested in bringing generations together to share and learn from one another.

Afdhel Aziz, Co-author of Good is the New Cool...Market Like You Give a Damn revealed that marketing has an image problem. Media-savvy millennials and Gen Z consumers no longer trust advertising, and they demand cutting-edge products with on-trend design. The book focuses on purpose driven companies established and new. Afdhel not only shared his insights with My Future Purpose participants but also with business community members from several Chambers of Commerce.

Natalie Kerrigan, Chief of Staff -Recruiting Solutions for

Indeed.com told My Future Purpose participants what is possible when you stay focused on your passion and purpose. She provided tips on best ways to approach a job search and land a particular job. With over 2 million visitors monthly, Indeed.com is an industry leader and Natalie shared valuable tips on gaining online visibility, staying motivated, knowing your expiration date.

Larry Jacobson sold his company to achieve his boyhood dream of sailing around the world that became a six-year odyssey of adventure, fear, discovery and love. He shared with My Future Purpose participants how to master fears and limitations, persevere through inevitable storms on the way to success. Upon his safe return Jacobson received calls from C-suite executives wondering how he managed to let go of the company that defined him. Those insights, interviews, conversations led to his next transition as motivational speaker, consultant and sought-after executive coach.

In time, good comes from tragedy and good came from 9/11 after the World Trade Center towers came down. My Future Purpose guest John Viola shared insights to his service as Lieutenant with Engine 4 Ladder 15 in lower Manhattan as his firehouse responded to the Twin Towers on September 11, 2001. Unfortunately, 14 brave members of Engine 4 Ladder perished that day. John Viola retired from the FDNY and is now the volunteer emergency response team coordinator for H.E.A.R.T 911, a nonprofit that responds immediately to natural and human-made disasters.

Michaela Fissel is Executive Director of Advocacy Unlimited, Inc. a statewide, peer-lead non-profit organization dedicated to improving the well-being and overall outcomes for individuals who experience mental health and co-occurring disorders. Michaela shared her own story with My Future Purpose participants about how she struggled with her own addictions, was homeless and hit rock bottom. Achieving recovery at the age of 21, Michaela committed to establish pathways for young people to rise as leaders across the behavioral health system of Connecticut.
