NKN Signs Commercial Partnership With ASUSTOR

NKN and ASUSTOR are launching a solution to provide customers with secure access to all of their personal data and services whenever and wherever they need.

SAN MATEO, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, December 30, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- NKN, a rising network infrastructure and service provider, and ASUSTOR, a NAS specialized branch founded by industry-pioneering ASUS in 2011, today announced their commercial

NKN ASUSTOR commercial contract in nConnect for NAS secure remote access partnership that combines NKN's best-in-class technology and ASUSTOR's leading NAS products.

Under the agreement, NKN and ASUSTOR are launching a joint solution to provide customers with secure access to all of their personal data and services whenever and wherever they need.

"We are excited to be partnering with ASUSTOR to provide them with our nConnect, which under a NAS related case, grants a secure connection to your private data and services wherever you'd like to access them. Working with ASUSTOR, we are now providing access to personal data and services, also impacting the importance and convenience of a secure remote access to files and applications to many more people who are concerned about how to bring along their private data with a guaranteed security." Says Bruce Li, Co-Founder, NKN.

"We have great faith in NKN as our trusted partner. Their fast, secure and affordable nConnect solution was well developed and polished. We look forward to working with NKN and delivering significant value to our clients by combining nConnect with our NAS devices. " Says Anderson Chiang, senior PM, ASUSTOR Inc.

By virtually connecting NKN's innovative secure file and service remote access with ASUSTOR's devoted NAS devices, the collaboration stands for a step-change in the way both businesses address the longing needs of the market.
