Personalized, Prioritized and Professional, the Crockett Law Group is Redefining the Attorney-Client Dynamic Across California

IRVINE, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, January 5, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- If the year 2020 has taught the world anything, it is that life is unpredictable, and accidents will inevitably happen. When unprecedented events involve legal action, knowing who to turn to for sound counsel can be incredibly daunting and concerning for the everyday citizen. The Crockett Law Group, Orange County's newest personal injury law firm, is rapidly making a name for themselves across California as the new gold standard for handling personal injury cases; redefining modern attorney-client roles.

Solely focusing on personal injury law, the Crockett Law Group has harnessed an impressive reputation for their extensive experience, dedication to the client, and attention to detail. When it comes to law firms, many would argue that bigger is always better, but on the contrary; large firms seldom provide one-on-one attention without clients having to jump through numerous hoops.

school at the UC Irvine School of Law. Throughout the years, Kevin recognized the importance of personalized support for each and every client, that many large law firms cannot guarantee. That idea of a niche firm that bridges the gap became the mission and vision of the Crockett Law Group.

"I see my job as that of a storyteller. You'll find that a lot of other law firms in California simply send off a generic and templated demand letter to the insurance company, and that's it. For me, I wanted to create a law firm where the lawyers and staff spend quality time investing in getting to know their clients. Doing this helps us establish a quality working relationship, taking off our attorney hats and relating to one another as two human beings. This human connection also helps feed our passion to fight on your behalf and provides us with the fodder we need to tell your personalized story to justify the compensation we know you deserve." - Kevin Crockett, Founding Partner
