“We're excited to partner with industry-leading companies like Gusto to make it easy for restaurants to simplify their operations while getting their employees paid quickly and efficiently,” said Jordan Boesch, Founder, and CEO of 7shifts. “Restaurateurs are always juggling multiple tasks and responsibilities, so providing them with the tools they need to simplify complex workflows like scheduling and payroll frees up their time to focus on serving their customers.”

The integration between 7shifts and Gusto works by sending your team's regular hours and overtime, captured with 7punches – 7shifts built-in time and attendance tool – or through an integration with a supported Point of Sale, into Gusto, instantly incorporating them into your next payroll. This integration helps restaurateurs:

- Ensure accurate payroll with minimal errors
- Streamline operations by reducing time-consuming manual re-entry of data

- Sync employees from Gusto to 7shifts so both accounts stay up-to-date

"Our platform exists to help small businesses like restaurants take care of their hard-working teams," said Somrat Niyogi, Head of Partnerships at Gusto. "Together, 7shifts and Gusto are bringing together the two critical aspects of running a business – scheduling and payroll – to increase operating efficiencies, reduce workload, and help operators take better care of their teams."

This is the latest partnership from these two companies that are making it easier to run a successful restaurant. Both offer several mutual integrations with trusted Point of Sale providers, such as Clover, Square, and Upserve. When combined, these integrations give restaurateurs a streamlined technology stack at an unparalleled price.
