About Biohackers Update Magazine

The first magazine about Biohacking and Self Optimization, Biohackers' Update is entirely committed to sharing all the essential hacks, updates and trends from the Biohacking World with the community at large. Biohackers' Update believes that becoming better everyday in every way is what life is all about. They write and publish articles backed by true user-based stories and science while posting them all on one, easy-to-find resource. True believers in the philosophy of self-care and self-loving, the magazine is in tune with the philosophy of selflessness.

From the studious pupil to the laid-back islander, the magazine writes for all people and strives to have something of value for everyone in every issue. They are dedicated to bringing readers the new updates of the Biohacking industry, so you can spend less time searching, and more time hacking. #HackOn
