Lonseal Flooring's Lonmarine Wood and Lonmarine Stone Passes Vehicle Flammability Testing

CARSON, CALIFORNIA, USA, January 13, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Lonseal Marine Flooring is highly recognized for its resilient, marine-grade, sheet-vinyl flooring. Two of their marine lines, LONMARINE WOOD and LONMARINE STONE, just passed the FMVSS302. This is the Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standard flammability of interior material test. The general principle of this test is to measure the burn rate of automotive materials used in vehicle occupant compartments. Both Lonseal product lines did not support combustion during or after the application of ignited flame. In other words, the material did not ignite (DNI).

The primary application for both Lonmarine Wood and Lonmarine Stone is for marine use; however, this test will allow these product lines to be installed in vehicles
