TORONTO, ONTARIO, UNITED STATES, January 14, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- TempStars, Canada's largest and most respected dental temping and hiring service, will present an Award of Excellence this April to a dental hygienist graduating from Georgian College. This will be the first of many such awards that the company plans to present to hygienists who are graduating from colleges and universities in North America.

Dr. James Younger, CEO of TempStars and a practicing dentist, said presenting the award is a way for TempStars to support the growth of the hygienist profession.

"Georgian College has a strong reputation for their dental education and training, and their graduates should feel immensely proud of this educational background," said Dr. Younger. "I'm just thrilled for the opportunity to support the Georgian College dental hygiene students and be an early inspiration as they begin their new journey."

Dr. Younger went on to add, "Hygienists are a critical component to a successful dental office, and thousands of great dental hygienists have strengthened and enriched our growing community of dental professionals. This is a small way for us to give back, and I'm thrilled for the opportunity."

The Award of Excellence recognizes students who have already exemplified the qualities of great dental hygienists throughout their educational journey. The values of caring, compassion, reliability, professionalism, and a dedication to clinical excellence are all the things that set up any dental professional to stand out in their field.

Dr. Younger expects TempStars to present similar awards at additional schools in 2021.

“These are the early days of this program,” Dr. Younger said. “We’re looking to partner with additional faculties of dental education and training, not only in Canada but throughout North America, where we can have a major impact on inspiring new dental hygienists, assistants, and dentists, as we become a positive influence on the dental industry as a whole.”
