For Patricia Karen Gagic, art is the essence of life, every experience is a form of art. After so many years in the industry, she is still continually discovering new things, understanding herself better, and tapping into her inner strength to create beautiful and inspirational pieces. Whether she is taking a photograph or creating something new using her paintbrush, her consistent hope is to reveal something significant that will inspire and help her

“My art is intended to point to what is greater than the conventional and logic-based point-of-view. The under-painting is central to how this orientation shows up in the final works. In the search for the luminous and ethereal, the under-painting is an investigative yet carefully orchestrated evolution of intentional layering in which I am immersed in a process of moving with a rich flow of contemplative and clairvoyant thought,” says Patricia Karen Gagic. Besides being an accomplished contemporary artist, she is also a Certified meditation specialist and facilitator who completed her Certification in Applied Mindfulness and Transformative Mindfulness and Mindfulness without Borders from Factor Inwentash Faculty of Social Work at the University of Toronto.
