CANADA, January 20, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- This Saturday January 23, 2021 is National Pie Day. To help you celebrate, Zolo crunched data from Baker's Journal and the Tenderflake surveys to find out the top pie pick in each state. Surprise! It's not apple pie!

This Saturday January 23, 2021 is National Pie Day. As an annual celebration, National Pie Day is the one day fans of fruit pies, cream pies, savory pies (or those that love them all) can throw their diet out the window and indulge, just a little.

According to Zolo, a popular national real estate marketplace, where you live dictates your pie preference.

While apple pie and pumpkin pie tend to get the most attention, turns out these sweet treats aren't the top pie choices for many North Americans.

Almost 1 in 4 (24%) would choose a custard or cream pie, while 23% of North Americans would prefer a meat pie over a sweet pie. In fact, apple pie and pumpkin pie are at the bottom of the list for North Americans, with only 5% and 2%, respectively, ranking them in the best pie spot.

A little history of National Pie Day

Traditionally celebrated on January 23rd of each year, National Pie Day began in the mid-'70s in Boulder, Colorado when Charlie Papazian, a local brewer who also happened to be a trained nuclear engineer and teacher declared the day National Pie Day in order to celebrate his own birthday! At first, it was just a way for locals to hang out, eat good food and celebrate with friends. Then, in 1986, the American Pie Council jumped on board and decided to make it official — declaring the day National Pie Day, which is now celebrated across North America.

While pie-lovers will tell you that you don't need a special holiday to enjoy pie, it certainly helps if you decide to go looking for a sweet or savory slice this Saturday January 23, 2021.
