We have made great strides in ensuring cannabis medicine is available legally to qualifying patients and are humbled to have such prestigious recognition for our care”

Melonie Kotchey

The Global Health and Pharma Awards were created as an international recognition of leaders in the Human, Animal, and Environmental Health fields. This annual event highlights prestigious industry professionals as the cannabis-focused awards continue for a second year. “CCC is honored to be chosen as a winner by Global Health & Pharma, once again. We have made great strides in ensuring cannabis medicine is available legally to qualifying patients and are humbled to have such prestigious recognition for our care.” states C.E.O. and Co-founder, Melonie Kotchey. In addition to this year’s award, the multi-award-winning healthcare network, colloquially called CCC, was named as the “Leading Pioneers in Medical Marijuana Registration – Pennsylvania” as well as receiving a “Distinction Award for Cannabis Medicine Advancement 2020," in last years "GHP Medical Marijuana Awards 2019."

Qualifications for the Global Health and Pharma awards are determined not by votes but solely upon professional merit and achievement. Nominations were based on case files built by GHP researchers. These case files present merit-oriented research considering factors such as the company's accomplishments and adaptability, organizational growth, future aspirations, company values, and public reputation. After relaying notice of the nomination, a panel of judges review all research to identify a level of proficiency and excellence within a company's given field as well as their devotion to patient care and satisfaction.
