

HIP Video Promo presents: Robyn McCorquodale releases an uplifting music clip "We Fly Together or We Don't Fly at All"

The instrumentals gleam as Robyn's organic ballads complete the song; the strength ahead is worth the united struggle we have now.

VANCOUVER, BRITISH COLUMBIA , CANADA, January 22, 2021

/EINPresswire.com/ -- An artist's versatility depends on more than the music they make or the instruments they play; it is also contingent on their adaptation in the industry and the substance of their work. Robyn McCorquodale is distinguished by her

"vivacious optimism" as noted by Tom Harrison from The Province, Vancouver and her music is credited as "powerful and uplifting" by John Hoglund of Cabaret Scenes, NYC. As a vocalist, pianist, and songwriter, McCorquodale's desire is to uplift and empower listeners with her music of fearless self-examination. She is the creator of the multi-media presentation Diary of a Piano Girl, a unique concert that showcases her journey as a performer on all seven continents.

Robyn McCorquodale

She has studied and trained in music her whole life. She received a music degree from the University of British Columbia; training as a classical musician enhanced her musical resume and expanded her expertise as an international performer. McCorquodale is a master of fusing classical music with contemporary pop, but every publication agrees that her style is uniquely much her own. Her vivid lyrics make her a prime storyteller, and her rich piano playing sweetens her delicate tones. The singer has absorbed many external influences: all that blend into a "riveting songstress" that is solely Robyn, as exclaimed by Andrew Martin, NiteLife Exchange, NYC.

As the world has been in disarray for nearly a year due to the pandemic, many feel that the passing of each day brings nothing favorable. It's hard to maintain faith when cases continue to rise and lockdowns resume. Robyn McCorquodale is here to change the narrative with her new music video "We Fly Together or We Don't Fly at All." The title is self-explanatory: as a group, as a community, as a nation, we must work together to get through this, or we will get nowhere. She strides across Vancouver's scenic bridge and through the ocean-lined forests surrounding the city, glowing as she celebrates health care professionals and medical first responders. Initially, the track was inspired by Robyn's meaningful role as a caregiver to her parents and her realization that although the caregiver journey can be overwhelming on your own, it can be rewarding and magical when you have a team effort supporting you. When COVID first hit – and she was locked out of her parents' care home – Robyn kept daily communication with the team and realized how relevant "We Fly Together or We Don't Fly at All" was to the current crisis. The instrumentals gleam as Robyn's organic ballads complete the song; the strength ahead is worth the united struggle we have now.

Robyn McCorquodale - We Fly Together or We Don't Fly at All

More Robyn McCorquodale on her website

More Robyn McCorquodale on Facebook

More Robyn McCorquodale on HIP Video Promo

Andrew Gesner
HIP Video Promo
+1 732-613-1779
email us here

This press release can be viewed online at: <https://www.einpresswire.com/article/534925406>

EIN Presswire's priority is source transparency. We do not allow opaque clients, and our editors try to be careful about weeding out false and misleading content. As a user, if you see something we have missed, please do bring it to our attention. Your help is welcome. EIN Presswire, Everyone's Internet News Presswire™, tries to define some of the boundaries that are reasonable in today's world. Please see our Editorial Guidelines for more information.

© 1995-2021 IPD Group, Inc. All Right Reserved.