Coffee roasting is an art form, and this Harlem Company has a long tradition from its humble beginnings in Costa Rica before the family migrated to America.

Since 1952 the Family matriarch has crafted a tradition of excellence in all facets of the culinary arts. Coffee is no exception, the family tradition of selecting and roasting green coffee in Costa Rica has grown and found a home in Harlem NY. The family travel to America in the 1960S and so did the craft of carefully selecting coffee beans and roasting them in small batches. The picture of the family matriarch "Mami", a beautiful woman of East Indian and Jamaican descent, just like Kamala Harris is proudly featured on every bag with a family history. Mami born in 1920 in Port Limon Costa Rica her father was from India and her mother was born in Jamaica West Indies.

This artistic roast is a very limited inaugural edition for the celebration as it is roasted in a very small batch. The company will send Kamala Harris a sample in hope that she will taste this unique coffee blend created in her honor.
